What's the Use of it.

white house that ever showed its keen angles from the dusky clumps of old lilac bushes.

In front of it stood, on each side of the doorway, two thrifty cherry trees, which bore a bushel each every season. Excepting the aforementioned lilac trees, there was not a flower or shrub round the place. Rose bushes the came, and on the whole the Deacon said, what

By the side of the house was a thrifty, well-kept garden, with plenty of current bushes, gooseberry bushes and quince trees-and the beets and carrots and onions were the pride of the Deacon's heart; but as he often proudly said, "everything was for use,"-there was nothing fancy about it. His wife put in timorously one season for a flower border-

Mrs. Jenkyns had given her a petunia, and Mrs. Simpkins had brought her a package of flower seeds from New York-and so a bed was laid out. But the thrifty Deacon soon found that the weeding of it took time that Mrs. Tilden might give to her dairy, or to making shirts and knitting stockings, and so it really troubled his conscience. The next spring he turned it into his corn-field; and, when his wife mildly intimated her disappointment, said placidly, "After all, 'twas a thing of no use, and took time"-and Mrs. Tilden, illustrated the fire place. The mantleshelf above had a pair of bright brass candlesticks with a pair of snuffers between-and that was all. The Deacon liked it-it was plain and simple-no nonsense about it-everything for use and nothing for show-it suited him. His wife sometimes sighed and looked round it,

"From vanity turn off my eyes;

Within this heart of mine."

The corrupt design to which this estimable matron had been tempted, had been the purchase of a pair of Parian flower vases, whose beauty had struck to her heart when she went

They that make them are like unto them; so is every one that trusteth in them." There was the Deacon's opinion of the arts; and Mrs. Deacon only sighed, and wished she could see it, that was all.

But it came to pass that the Deacon's eldest son went to live in New York, and from that time strange changes began to appear in the family, which the Deacon didn't like; but as Jethro was a smart, driving lad, and making money at a great pace, he at first said nothing. But on his mother's birthday, down he came and brought a box for his mother, which, being unpacked, contained a Parian statuette of Paul and Virginia-a lovely, simple little group as ever told its story in clay. Everybody was soon standing around it in open-mouthed admiration, and poor Mrs. Tilden wiped her eyes more than once as she looked on it. It seemed a vision of beauty in the desolate neatness of the best room.

"Very pretty, I s'pose," said the Deacon doubtfully-for like most fathers of spirited twenty-three olders, he began to feel a little in awe of his son-"but, dear me, what a sight of money to give for a thing that after all is of no use!"

"The use of living, then, is that we enjoy "Well, we all enjoy this statuette, so that "Costar's" there is the same value to that that there is in | "Costar's" Bed-Bug Exterminator. living; and if your oxen and carts and food "Costar's" and clothes, and all that you call necessary things, have no value except to keep in life, In 25c. 50c. and $1 Boxes, Bottles AND and life has no value except enjoyment, then this statuette is a short cut to the great thing for which your farm and everything else is designed. You do not enjoy your cart for what it is, but because of its use to get food and clothes-and food and clothes we value for the enjoyment they give. But a statuette or a picture, or any beautiful thing, gives enjoyment at once. We enjoy it the moment we see it-for itself, and not for any use we mean to make of it. So that strikes the great end of life quicker than anything else, don't it? WATCHES.

TE ARE RECEIVING DIRECT FROM THE MAN-UFACTORY in every variety and style of cases those Celebrated Waltham Watches. A genuine Waltham Watch costs less to buy and will last much longer than foreign made watches of the same

A genuine Waltham Watch is a durable, reliable and accurate time-keeper. We had rather warrant a Waltham Watch for five years, than the ordinary English or Swiss Watches for one year. A genuine Waltham Watch is the best for railroad men, the best for farmers, in fact the best for everybody in want of a time-keeper. We get our Waltham Watches of passengers at Southport, Greenwood, Frankin, Edinburgh, Columbus, making connections at Seymour with trains on the Ohio & Mississippi Road, and at Louisville with trains on the Louisville, Frankfort & Lexington direct from the manufacturers, and every Watch is warranted to give entire satisfaction. In sending for a Genuine Waltham Watch you run no risk, describe the style of case and the watch s sure to keep time. Send for a list of prices.
